India is a global agricultural power house

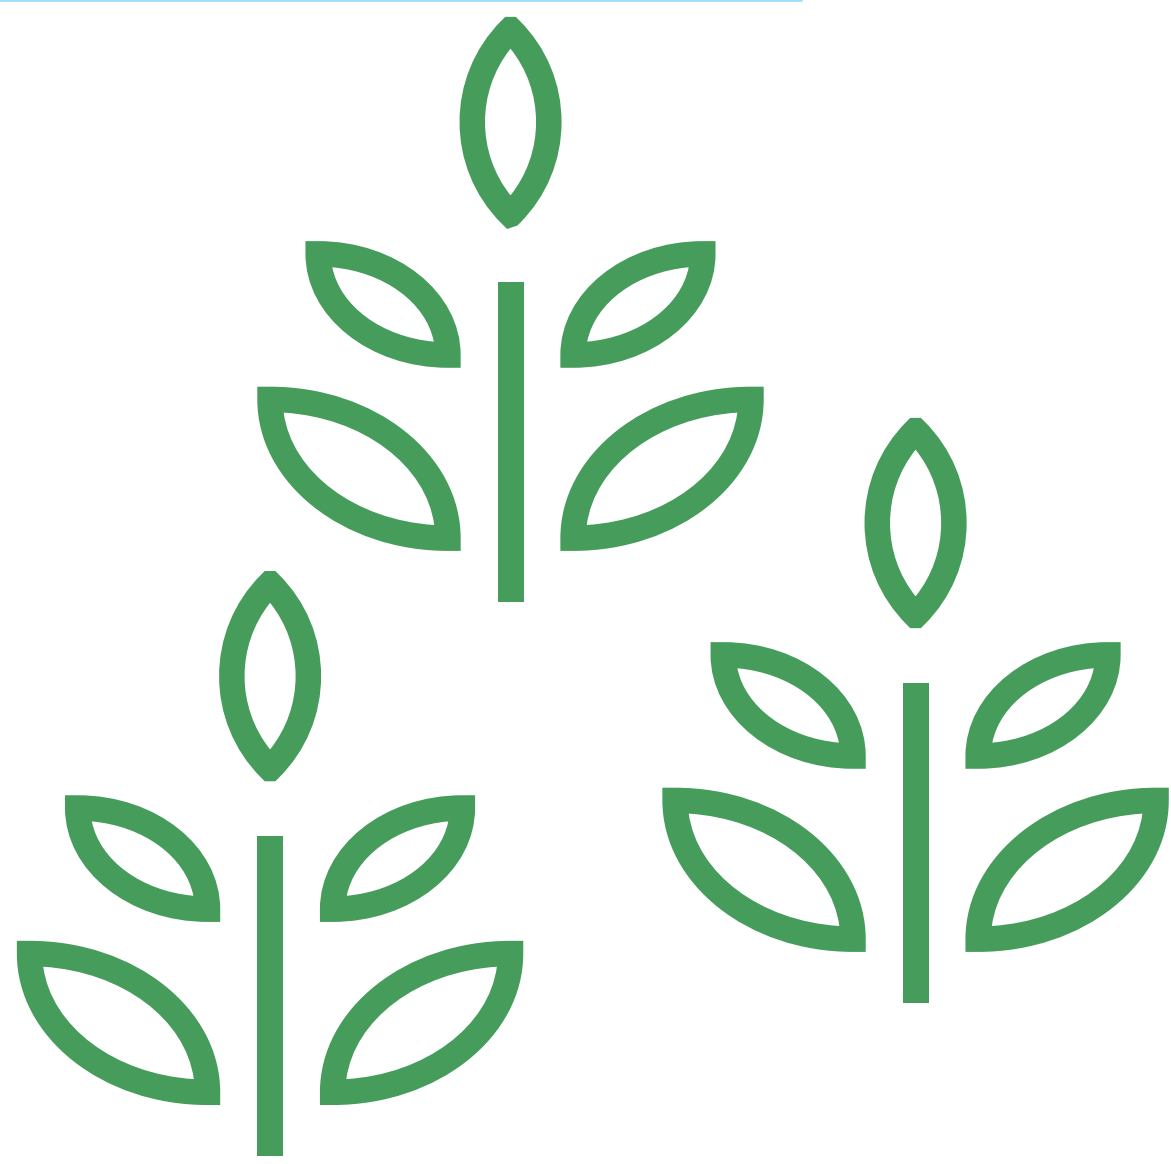

India is the second largest producer of rice, wheat, cotton, sugarcane, farmed fish, fruit, vegetables and tea.

Nearly three-quarters of India's families depend on rural incomes.

the agricultural sector could become an engine for economic recovery.

it supports livelihoods through food, habitat, and jobs.

climate is the most important determinant of agricultural crop production

India's Agricultural Crop Production

nowadays the crop productions are decreased due to many problems.

due to lack of water, climate changes and personal problems like financial problems are affecting the agriculture we can see that in future eventually many farmers gonna give up.

personal finance, time pressures, economic condition were associated with anxiety and depression

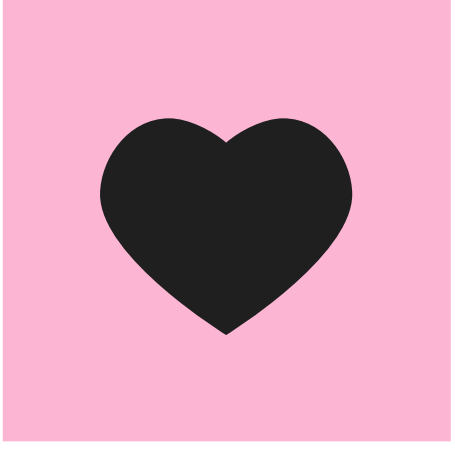

The burden of depression and anxiety is high among young adult farmers physical and environmental factors can have an impact on farmer behaviours.
